DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 12-14 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 12, 13 and 18, it is unclear in the claims, read in light of the specification, what specific data is being referred to regarding the three different disclosed types of data (portfolio, asset or portfolio tracking).

It is unclear what data in the equations is related to the three types of data disclosed. For example the specification does not explain in relation to the calculation of the index what type of data the variables used are. For example, on page 11 the process disclosed indicates the use of a price in calculating the index but does not indicate what type of data (portfolio, asset class or portfolio tracking) this price variable is derived from.

It is further unclear how portfolio tracking data is summed.

Claim 12 recites the limitation "said computer" in line 15. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 12, 13 and 18, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Salomon Brothers.

Salomon Brothers discloses an asset class benchmarking process comprising: selecting portfolio data (e.g. , security identifier and date used in calculating index) asset class data (data describing the security, e.g. equity stock, bond type, money market, page 8) and portfolio tracking data (e.g. expense data disclosed on page 5) (all data downloaded to perform calculation of index) from publicized source information and summing of this data (pages 18+ calculations for the indexes and for indexes disclosed on page 8) to produce benchmark data.

Salomon Brothers discloses the claimed process but does not provide the specific detail regarding a portfolio reference, date field, CUSIP identifier and par amounts. The use of CUSIP, dates, portfolio references, and par are notoriously old and well know in the art of financial analysis to identify, track and analyze financial positions of securities over time. For example, CUSIP's are unique identifiers for specific securities which have correlating par values which represent the face value of the security which the interest on a preferred stock or a bond is calculated and affects future performance of the security. This par value affects the value of the bond or stock as it represents the future values produced from the security. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the claimed data (CUSIP, date, portfolio reference, par, etc.) in the asset class benchmarking process of Salomon Brothers in order to identify, track and analyze financial positions of securities over time for which the data is used to calculate the benchmark.

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claim 14 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims and all related 35 U.S.C. 112 rejections are overcome.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 10/2/03 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., index does not cover the global institutional share universe, only covers capitalization greater than $100 million, that each issue is weighted by the proportion of its available equity capital, weighting of portfolios, sub-indices biases, avoiding of bias, tracking error, relevance vs. stability vs. objective selection criteria, first thru fourth generation, etc...) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
